Vide the reference 1st cited above, the State Government notified the Capital Region of the State of AP as the headquarters for APERC u/s 82(3) of the Electricity Act, 2003. Consequently, the Commission issued the order 2nd cited notifying the present office of the Commission at Hyderabad as an other office as the physical possibility of establishing its head office at its headquarters is inevitably consuming considerable time and to enable continuance in performance of its statutory functions and duties without disruption or default and to safeguard the convenience, rights and interests of the stakeholders. Now, in view of the Capital Region of the State of Andhra Pradesh being the headquarters of the Commission, the Commission decided to locate a receiving officer of the Commission at the Capital Region of Andhra Pradesh State to be accessible to the stakeholders and to assist/enable it to hold its sittings for hearing the matters, transact its business and conduct proceedings, consultations and hearings at the Capital Region of the Andhra Pradesh State.

Sri. V.K. Ratnakar, Steno-cum-Computer Operator is designated as the Receiving Officer of the Commission in the Capital Region of the Andhra Pradesh State -- the headquarters of the Commission, under clause 12 of the APERC (Conduct of Business) Regulations, 1999 (Regulation 2 of 1999) for the purpose of receiving all petitions, applications, representations and any other documents intended to be presented to the Commission. He shall operate from the Office of the Vidyut Ombudsman of the State of Andhra Pradesh until further orders. He shall regularly transmit all the petitions, applications, representations and any other documents received by him to the Commission's office at Hyderabad. He shall be available and accessible to all the stakeholders during office hours of the Commission on all working days. He shall assist the Commission in holding its sittings for hearing the matters, transact its business and conduct proceedings, consultations and hearings at the Capital Region of the State of Andhra Pradesh, whenever required. He shall also carry out any other duties and functions as assigned to him from time to time by the Commission.
